Letter from Petersburg. (Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.) PETERSBURG, March 24, 1876.

This morning about 10 o'clock Willie Candle, a youth aged eleven years, son of Candle, Susan Caudle, 281 Plum street, was Mrs. Social instantiv killed by a negro boy amed Henry Watkins, aged between sixteen and seventeen years. The shooting octeen and at the door of Mrs. Caudle's residence, where the ground was discolored with blood. There seems to have been no difficulty between the boys which could difficulty have resplied in malicious shooting by the pero, and of the many witnesses who testinegro, and the coroner's jury no one was able to assign any cause for the act. Several of them witnessed the shooting, but heard of them words passed between the parties. The pegro, after the act, made several contradic-tory statements. In one instance he said the boy shot himself, and in another that he did not know the gun was loaded. that he did le's companions who had been playing wi h him in the street—the only one hegro came that he would either kill Caudle or Caudle must kill him, and aiming his gun shot the Caudle was shot through the neck, the mazzle of the gun being within a few poles of the boy. The shot cut a wide gap prose the throat, severing the arteries and reaking the neck, and inflicting a pas distily wound. Death was, of course, indispeous. The jury rendered a verdict that the deceased came to his death from a reshot wound inflicted by a gun in the hads of Henry Watkins. Watkins has been strested, and is in jail.

Nannie Ewing, daughter of George L. impson, was buried this afternoon. She bid a congestive chill yesterday morning, on the effects of which she died in the thernoon. She was a bright, beautiful child, ive years old.

A special meeting of the Common Council is called, to be held to-morrow at 12 o'clock, to consider financial matters of importance. Blandford cometery is to be enlarged by the addition of twenty-five acres of land lying south of and adjoining the present grounds. The work of enclosure is now going on, and a brick wall is to be run along the whole front on the plank-road. The committee of the Council having the matter in charge have adopted a plan for the improvement of the new ground which, in avenues, walkways, &c., will correspond with those of the old ground. The enlargement has been rendered necessary by the fact that all the squares in the old cemetery grounds bave been bought, and no more are to be obtained, though there is much demand for them. The difficulty between the Richmond and

Petersburg and Petersburg railroads will probably result in the running of steamers etween Richmond and Petersburg for carrying freights. It is reported here that a steamer is soon to be started on this line. The revivals at the Baptist and Methodist churches in this city are still continued. This is the sixth week of the meetings at the First Baptist church, and one hundred and nity-odd persons have made professions of faith, and many of them have joined the church. The meetings at the Washington-Street and High-Street Methodist churches are attended nightly by large congregations, and there have been many conversions. The meetings are to be continued all next week. The receipts of loose tobacco this week

The annual meeting of the Petersburg District Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, will be held in this city on the 4th of April next, at which, besides the election of officers, a Grange agent will be chosen.

The Republican ward clubs of this city held meetings last night and elected four delegates each to a city convention, which is to choose two delegates from Petersburg to the Republican State Convention, which meets in Lynchburg on the 12th of April, and which will select the Virginia delegates to the National Convention. The proceedings in some of the meetings are represented to have been quite lively. The differences between the native and custom-house factions have not yet been settled.

The Republicans have not yet organized for the municipal campaign. There are ru-mors (but what reliance can be placed in them I cannot state) that they will run a straight-out ticket. ROBIN ADAIR.

LOUISA COURTHOUSE, VA., March 24, 1876. The Circuit Court has been in session all the week-Judge William S. Barton presiding. The cases have thus far been principally chancery business. An appeal for a writ of error in the case of Robinson Hunter (colored), convicted last week in the County Court for burning the tobacco-house of Dr. Joseph B. Winston, of this town, and sentenced to five years' imprisonment in the penitentiary, was made by the prisoner's counsel; but the Judge refused the writ, stating that the exceptions were not well taken, and also that the circumstantial evidence pointed unerringly to the convicted as the guilty party. The case now goes to the Court of Appeals.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT-REHOVAL DE A DEPOTY MARSHAL. - In this court yesterday the case of Henry R. Berger, county treasurer of Botetourt, and one of the most prominent and influential gentlemen in that county, was the first regular case tried, and occupied the greater portion of the day. In view of its peculiar interest and unexpected result we give an outline of the testimony:

The United States deputy marshal of this city, Mr. James W. Wright, testified that he called upon Mr. Berger and summoved bim to aid in the arrest of one William L. Barger, who had violated the laws of the United States, and who had previously been too smart to be captured. He stated emphatically that Mr. Berger not only refused to aid him, but averred that he "wouldn't tell where Barger was if he knew, because Barger was good and popular man, and the people didn't want him molested."

This testimony was completely overturned by that of Mr. Berger's witnesse, who swore that they were present at the interview; that Mr. Berger was sick (being afflicted with epflepsy); that he so told the Marshal, and that he advised two of his employes to go with the Marshal, proposing to pay for their services, and that he actually did pay them the next morning. It further appeared in evidence that the Marshal not only failed to use due diligence in his efforts to arrest Barger, but that he actually rode in fifteen feet of him, playing with time of the shooting—said the and bowed to him, but asked no questions. present at the with his gun and remarked Of course the Marshal and his assistants, paid by Mr. Berger, did not find Mr. Barger at his

A ludicrous episode of the case was the tatement of a young man, who accompanied the Marshal on his visit to Barger's house, that Mr. Wright made the swiftest time on record in getting away from a diminutive fice, which he stumbled over in the front yard. If the witness is to be believed, the Marshal got on top of the fence at two or three bounds, and did it so dexterously that at Richmond, where judgment was entered he didn't himself know when he accomplished the wonderful feat. The witness was of the opinion that a United States officer who, in the effort to arrest a desperado, exhibited so little courage, was not a very dangerous man any way. The defendant was ably defended by Mr. J. Foote Johnson.

As soon as the testimony was ended, in which the Marshal's statements were sadly disproved, the Judge instructed the district attorney to write a verdict in favor of the defendant, which was signed by a member of the jury. His honor then said :

"Mr. Wright, it is the order of this court that you be instantaneously removed from your office of deputy marshal of the United tates for the Western District of Virginia, and the Marshal is instructed that he cannot appoint any deputy whose appointment has not been endorsed by me." This intelligence, like a bolt of lightning from a cloudless sky, created a profound sensation .- Lynchburg News, 24th. CAPTAIN PORTER'S STATEMENT .- We call the attention of the New York Times, which stands as voucher for Captain Porter, to the following: One of the city papers published a two-column article yesterday purporting to be a statement from one Porter, who represents himself in the New York Times to have been a captain in the New Jersey cavalry, who escaped from Libby prison in 1864. The "yarn" has created much discussion among the Confederate officers and soldiers here, and all that I have seen pronounce the thing a veritable lie. I am satisfied that no Confederate wagon trains could stand the fire of the Federal gunboats in the Northumberland as late as '64-the point was too far down for them to go unless they had a support of five thousand men. Porter, if by Virginia. such an individual lived, would never have been permitted to escape arrest by the master of the wagon train while crossing the and they both wondered who wrote it. Some time in 1864 there was a Captain Porter in the Libby, who claimed to be from Massachusetts, was an intimate friend of a Captain Stuart, from New York, who was also a prisoner, and would like to know if this man and the Porter of this sensational story are identical. Now, I hope the north ern papers will give this as much publicity as they have this officer's statement .- Rich mond letter in Norfolk Virginian.
